PROFILE

I have worked just about every aspect of the service industry but when the pandemic shut it all down I decided to make a career change. I enrolled in a web development bootcamp and began my new endeavor. I am a hard working and self-motivated learner ready for the next opportunity.

For the past 15 months I have worked part-time/freelance while being a stay-at-home dad. I am looking for a full-time position as my son is now old enough to transition to day care.
